FEEDBACK FROM A STUDENT

12-03-2022

পূর্বো দুই বছর শিক্ষণ প্রতিষ্ঠান বন্ধ থাকার পর ফাইনাল ইন্টারের দোরগোড়ায় পৌঁছে, আমরা আবার ডার্চুর্নাল বসলেও স্বীন ছেড়ে প্রানগুলোতে পড়াশোনার সুযোগ পাচ্ছি তবে এর মধ্যে উপরি পাওনা হল গত ২২/০৩/২০২২ তারিখের জোড়াসাঁওগে শাকুরবাড়ি অন্ননা আমাদের প্রদেয় এবং প্রিন্স সুচিনা ম্যাস এবং গৌরি ম্যাসের মাঝে বসেছিল। এই দিনটি রোজকার সুচিনের বাইরে অনন্য মাত্রা এনে দিয়েছে। অন্যদিকে শাকুরবাড়ির আনাচে-কানাচে যুরতে পালা, বিপ্লবেরন্য কবির বিভিন্ন বিষয়ের মাঝে পরিচয় করতে পারা — আমাদের জন্য অত্যন্ত লোভনীয় ব্যাপার হয়ে দাঁড়িয়েছিল। Excursion সবসময়ই মজার, কিন্তু এই ২০২২-এর ২২মার্চ দিনটি আমাদের অনেক স্নিকোচাম সবসময় উজ্জল হয়ে থাকবে।

TOPIC :- Online Education under Covid Pandemic

আমরা স্মৃতে অনলাইন ক্লাস খুবই সুবিধাজনক, বর্তমান যুগে internet জীবনের সর্বস্তরে একটি অপরিহার্য অঙ্গ হয়ে উঠেছে, এবং বিশ্বব্যাপী বহুতো অনলাইন ক্লাসে আমরা মেয়ে-পুত্র সন্তানকে/শিক্ষার্থীর কাছে শিক্ষা-শিক্ষণ করতে পারছি না, তাই আমরা যেটা অনলাইন ক্লাসের উপর আমরা নির্ভর হয়ে উঠছি, যতটা এই অনলাইন পড়তে সমস্ত শিক্ষা প্রতিষ্ঠান বন্ধ হলে যাওয়ায় মানে এই অনলাইন ক্লাস আমাদের অস্তিত্ব জেগে আলোর পথে অগ্রসর করতে চলেছে। এই অনলাইন ক্লাসের পুরো সুবিধাজনক দিক আছে প্রচুর।

- সুতরাং :-
- ① এই অনলাইন ক্লাস ক্লাস বন্ধ হলে যে শিক্ষা প্রতিষ্ঠানে অনলাইন পোড়িত হতে শুরু না, তখনই যত্ন করে ক্লাসে পোড়িত করতে পারবে।
  - ② অল্পে ও দ্রুত শিক্ষক/শিক্ষার্থী পুঙ্খ মোক্ষমোক্ষা করতে পারবে।

Arundhati Roy as an Author of non-fiction...

Arundhati Roy was born in 1961 in Kerala, India, the divided architecture of the Datta School of Architecture and worked as a production Designer. She has written two screenplays, including Electric Moon (1992), commissioned by Channel 4 television. She lives in Delhi with her husband, the filmmaker Pradip Krishen. "The God of Small Things" her first novel, won the Booker Prize for Fiction in 1997 and has sold over 11 million copies world-wide. An immediate bestseller, the novel was published simultaneously in 14 languages and 19 countries, but caused controversy in India for the description of a love affair between a Syrian Christian and a Hindu, untouchable. Set in Ayemenem in Kerala, a rural province in southern India, it is the story of two friends, Estha and Rahel, their reunion after 23 years apart and their shared memories of the events surrounding the accidental death of their English cousin, Sophie Mol. In 1999, she is also the author of several non-fiction books, including "The Cost of Living" (1999), a highly critical attack on the Indian government for its handling of the controversial Narmada Valley dam project and for its nuclear testing programme; "Power Politics" (2001), a book of essays; and the "Algebra of Justice", a collection of journalism. "The Ordinary Person's Guide to Empire" was published in 2004. She has since published a further collection of essays examining the dark side of democracy in contemporary India, "Listening to Grassroots: Field Notes on Democracy" (2009). Arundhati Roy was awarded the Lannan Prize for Cultural Freedom in 2003. Her book "The Ministry of Utmost Happiness" (2017), her second novel, was longlisted for the Man Booker Prize and, in the US, was a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle Award.

Tribals Undergoing 'Neo-colonisation' ...

As Roy recalls in "Lockdown Revolution," the last major completed in India was the Communist Party's (CPI) campaign in the 2007 election of Norway's Labour Party. The CPI's slogan was "The Challenge of Democracy" that India has followed a similar but necessary growth rate since independence because of government control and increasing labor concerns. Through "modernization" with its that we should have been possible today and efficiency. It is a more complex, militant organization and a policy agenda that will allow India to "open up." Roy explains, however, that "Advent, rather than to have been a 'policy' and efficiency" is what movements did to their colonies development, but he stresses that "in other words, Chaturvedi's claim suggests that the tribals are undergoing a form of 'neo-colonialism'." Just as the labor exploited colonies Indians for financial gain, Roy contends that industrialists today who own land in the public and financial systems are now exploiting the rural tribes for their own gain. From being regarded as citizens, they are now being treated as laborers and their labor is being taken away from them. In their villages and during their crops, they are spending about the local level for the local's benefit. Roy says that India is a going down the same path that led to the 1947 independence. He says that the government is taking away the rights of the tribals and is taking away the rights of the tribals. He says that the government is taking away the rights of the tribals and is taking away the rights of the tribals. He says that the government is taking away the rights of the tribals and is taking away the rights of the tribals.

CELEBRATION OF WORLD POPULATION DAY

Held on 11th of July, 2021

World population day was celebrated on the 11th of July, 2021 by the students of various departments of South Calcutta Girls' College and was organized by the Geography Department in a virtual mode.

When a tiny virus catapulted the whole college to virtual mode, we found ourselves in a relatively better position to begin these celebrations virtually. Students were asked to make posters and PPTs on World Population Day on specific topics. The creativity and resourcefulness of the students while presenting their posters and presentations left us amazed. With a lot of excitement and enthusiasm, many students from other departments also participated in this program. This experience helps them to come out of their initial hesitance and encourages them to ideate, explore, and share their thoughts within and beyond the curriculum.

DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY

World population day was celebrated on the 11th of July, 2021 by the students of various departments of South Calcutta Girls' College and was organized by the Geography Department in a virtual mode.

When a tiny virus catapulted the whole college to virtual mode, we found ourselves in a relatively better position to begin these celebrations virtually. Students were asked to make posters and PPTs on World Population Day on specific topics. The creativity and resourcefulness of the students while presenting their posters and presentations left us amazed. With a lot of excitement and enthusiasm, many students from other departments also participated in this program. This experience helps them to come out of their initial hesitance and encourages them to ideate, explore, share their thoughts within and beyond the curriculum.

Report of the Quiz Competition

The Quiz and Debate Club and the Department of History of South Calcutta Girls' College had organised a quiz competition on 18.04.2022 at 2pm to celebrate World Heritage Day. It was open to students of all departments. Students formed teams of two members and registered their names through Google forms. The quiz had six rounds: Natural Heritage, World Heritage, Cities, Monuments, Historical Places, and Geological Heritage. The competition was a combination of audio-visual round and oral questioning.

The participation of the students was highly promising. There were 22 participants. Many of the faculties attended the programme as well. All students were given participation certificates. This programme was a tribute to all the UNESCO World Heritage Sites across the globe. Furthermore, this was a small attempt on the part of the teachers to make the students aware of the importance of preserving our heritage.

Auguste Comte ..... Law of Three Stages

Comte was the first to use the term "Sociology". He had an enormous influence on other sociologists. He was especially admired by Herbert Spencer and Emile Durkheim. The study of history and study of sociology should be conducted jointly. Just as many classical theorists did and some sociologists are still doing so.

The theory propounded that there were 3 intellectual stages through which the society has passed throughout its history. According to Comte, not only does the world pass up the above 3 stages but thought, morality, science, and industry also pass through the same 3 stages. He stated that Comte's theory of intellectual development leads to social development. As the development of intellect, the development of a society, its social development, the development of human world. The Comte, laid an evolutionary structure from the childhood to adolescence and then to the stage of adulthood, similarly, society also passes through three stages.

This is the way in which all the natural sciences were explained in terms of evolutionary laws. Comte's philosophy explained relationships of everything as a function of evolutionary laws, especially those that are 'will'. Interpretations of nature and life of both natural and social world are entirely based on biology, imagination and philosophy.

Comte's theory of the three stages of human development is a central part of his philosophy. He believed that society progresses through three stages: the theological stage, the metaphysical stage, and the positive stage. In the theological stage, society is dominated by religious beliefs and superstitions. In the metaphysical stage, society is dominated by abstract philosophical ideas. In the positive stage, society is dominated by scientific knowledge and empirical research. Comte believed that the positive stage is the most advanced and that it is the only stage that can lead to a truly rational and just society.

Auguste Comte
1. Coined the term "sociology"
2. Defined sociology as a scientific science
3. Inspired by positivist philosophy in an intellectual tradition in France
4. "Law of three stages"

Suicide

Durkheim's third book, Suicide (1897), a major theory of social consciousness relating to collective conscience, is cited as a monumental landmark in rational conceptual theory and empirical research, one brought together. He used considerable statistical eloquence considered remarkable for his time. His use of statistical analysis was for the first time primarily used to support theories based on psychology, biology + genetics, climate and geographical factors, and to support other empirical evidence. His own sociological explanation of suicide.

WOMEN – THE FIGHTERS WITHIN

Bristi Das

Dept. of Journalism & Mass Communication, Sem-II

“A woman is like a tea bag – you never know how strong she is until he gets in hot water”, these were the well said words of former US first lady and leading feminist Eleanor Roosevelt. How many women our lives comprise of, how many have we thanked? The daughter, the mothers, the sisters, the friblings – friends like siblings, the wives, the aunts, the nieces, the grand- some things, the young ones, the teens. The women in our lives, who love, lose, cry, laugh, heal and thrive, nurture, create.

Have we thanked them enough for the great change they’ve made? History is evident in the fact that its golden pages wouldn’t be as revolutionary as they are without the women that existed, that strived and persisted on for a change, for a difference. A glimpse into these chapters remind us that we stood up and against barbarian acts, we have invented and discovered the

REPORT- The speaker introduced the term environment and the various connotations given to it by different groups of people. She highlighted the dualism between development and environment and drew upon research material to show how states such as Uttarakhand foregrounded their demand for separate statehood by highlighting issues of underdevelopment in the area. Discussions around environment are often anti-development and the speaker argued that as such that's largely the paradigm within which it is organised. Environmentalism can be varied in its forms and while Ramchandra Guha speaks of the environmentalism of the poor, Baviskar writes about bourgeoisie environmentalism. She drew attention towards a convergence of various kinds of social and environmental movements. The talk concluded with the speaker answering several interesting questions by the students.

Q Write a note on Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay's views on Nationalism.

Ans → Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay (1838-94) was probably the first systematic expounder in India of the idea of Nationalism. His unique contribution lay in conceptualising nationalism in indigenous terms. He elaborated the idea by drawing upon the Bhagavad Gita that was widely translated in Bengali in the nineteenth century. In his translated version of Gita, what Bankim provided to make the Gita more suitable reading for the Western-educated intelligentsia in the newly emerged context of the nationalist opposition to the British rule.

What was primary in Bankim's thought was his concern for national solidarity for on it depended the growth of the Hindu Society. National solidarity is conceivable, as Bankim argued, only when there is a change in one's attitude in the following two ways:

First, the conviction that what is good for every Hindu is good for me and my views, beliefs and actions must be consistent with those of other members of the Hindu Society. And, secondly, one should inculcate a single-minded devotion to the nation and its interests. This was an idea that Bankim nurtured in all his ~~works~~ and other writings <sup>223</sup> because he believed that without care and love for the nation (and implicitly for the country) one simply failed to justify one's existence as a unit in a cohesive whole, called nation.

From the notion of national solidarity, Bankim now delved into arushilam or his concept of practice. Elaborating this notion in his 1888 essay entitled 'The theory of Religion', Bankim defined it as a system of culture, more complete and more perfect than the Western concept of culture, articulated by the Western thinkers like Comte and ~~the~~ Matthew Arnold. Critical of the agnostic Western view of practice, arushilam was based on 'bhakti' (devotion) that implied a combination of 'knowledge and duty'. In practical terms, arushilam means that it simultaneously imparts knowledge of what is good for the community and what the community is supposed to do under specific circumstances. Arushilam implies duty that is the performance of an act for which one should not expect reward. In other words, the community is duty-bound to perform certain acts not out of choice but out of devotion to a cause or a goal. From this, he derived the idea of duty towards the nation. There was no choice and the community had to work for 'the defence of the nation' that was completely Crippled due to specific historical circumstances. For Bankim, this selfless, and non-possessive notion of devotion lay at the foundation of dharma or religion.

By underlining the importance of dharma in national solidarity, Bankim sought to create conditions for a separate identity for the Hindu community. Not only <sup>was</sup> it necessary for a subject nation, it was also most appropriate for building a strong community on the basis of its inherent cultural strength and not merely by imitating the west.
