Report of the Webinar

BRIEF NOTE OF THE SPEECH DELIVERED BY DR. KANTI LAL DAS, PROFESSOR OF PHILOSOPHY, NORTH BENGAL UNIVERSITY IN THE NATIONAL WEBINAR ON “ETHICS IN BUSINESS AND PUBLIC RELATIONS: THE MODERN PARADOX”

The National Webinar was promoted by IQAC and jointly organized by Department of Journalism and Mass Communication and Department of Philosophy on 7th August, 2020.

Professor Das mentioned the famous allegation that philosophy is a close-door discipline that is involved in the inward cultivation of soul and mind. It is not connected with the empirical world. Against this allegation, he pointed out the practical aspects of philosophy. Business may be personal, professional or corporate. Each of it has an ethical dimension. He compared the trends of old times and the recent period. Previously, people believed that

If character is lost, everything is lost.

If health is lost, something is lost.

If money is lost, nothing is lost.

He remarked that nowadays, people believe that

If character is lost, nothing is lost.

If money is lost, everything is lost.

Accumulation of wealth is certainly important in business but men should cultivate the cardinal virtues as mentioned by Plato. He mentioned the names of famous businessmen who have followed unethical ways and at the same time, he spoke of the Tatas and Birla who are the pioneers of Indian business and economy.

There are certain myths of business. There has been a tendency to emphasize the negative elements of business that it involves malpractices. People seem to give their own interpretations. Many people seem to identify law with ethics. He reminded us that ethics covers a broader field than law. So, it is incorrect to say that what is legal is ethical. Ethics has moral universality and it is unconditional in nature. We should eliminate the myths.

Business ethics should be studied to improve business and to overcome malpractices. We need honest entrepreneurs who have integrity of character. In the lecture, he mentioned the famous writing of Kant named “Perpetual Peace” where he said that we need moral politicians. He also spoke of Professor Amartya Sen, John Rawls and Dr. B. R. Ambedkar. He referred to the different characters of the Mahabharata and he ended his lecture by pointing out the essential fact that any business should involve goodwill and concern for others

INVITED LECTURE TOPIC- ENVIRONMENTAL MOVEMENT: SOME CONTEMPORARY TRENDS

SPEAKER-Dr.Shoma Choudhury Lahiri, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, St. Xavier's College, Kolkata

DESCRIPTION OF THE EVENT- The speaker introduced the term environment and the various connotations given to it by different groups of people. She highlighted the dualism between development and environment and drew upon research material to show how states such as Uttarakhand foregrounded their demand for separate statehood by highlighting issues of underdevelopment in the area. Discussions around environment are often anti-development and the speaker argued that as such that's largely the paradigm within which it is organised. Environmentalism can be varied in its forms and while Ramchandra Guha speaks of the environmentalism of the poor, Baviskar writes about bourgeoisie environmentalism. She drew attention towards a convergence of various kinds of social and environmental movements. The talk concluded with the speaker answering several interesting questions by the students.

Report of the Webinar on “The Ethics of Care”

The Department of Philosophy organized a webinar on the topic “The Ethics of Care.” on 09.07.2021 at 3PM. Dr. Shyamasree Bhattacharyya, Associate Professor of Philosophy, University of Calcutta gave a lucid presentation on the topic which is a recent trend in feminist philosophy. She discussed the different aspects of traditional ethics that ignore the feminine experiences and relationships. Social context and connections appear to be fundamental in care ethics where an individual surrenders his personal motives for the sake of people who need help and support. The topic is very relevant during the COVID times when the whole world is facing utter crisis and helplessness. The lecture was followed by a question-and-answer session and it was well appreciated. The webinar was attended by 100 participants approximately.

About the Seminar

Bengali literature holds a special place in the field of literature. Literary practitioners have contributed significantly through novels, poems, short-story, drama alongside other allied genres and continue to do so. This is equally true of the literature of West Bengal and Bangladesh.

Newer trends have been evident in the literature of West Bengal and Bangladesh through the decades. These trends have not only contributed to the development of the literary tradition but have also enriched it.

The decade of 1970's is particularly significant in the literary movement of progression and enrichment in the social, political, literary and cultural life of the region. Therefore, to examine the essence of contemporary literature of the Bangla speaking people on either side of the border, the Department of Bengali of South Calcutta Girls' College is organising a one-day international seminar on the theme: 'Literary Trends of two Bengals: From the 1970 to 2019'

About the topic- Dr.PallavMukhopadhyay described every single points and history of both Italian neorealism film and French New Wave. In Italian neorealism films mostly copes with the difficult economic and moral circumstances of post-World War II in Italy which represents change in the Italian psyche and conditions of ordinary life, including poverty, oppression, injustice, and desperation. Whereas French New Wave filmmakers discovered new approaches to editing, visual grace, and narrative, in addition to engagement with the social and political disorders of the era which often make use of sarcasm or exploring existential themes. The New Wave is over and over again considered one of the most important movements in the history of cinema. With different movies story and conception he gave examples for the students.

Invitation cum Registration Brochure for Circulation:

An Invitation

The Department of Geography and IQAC of South Calcutta Girls' College and Centre For Environment And Economic Development (CEED), New Delhi a research Institution Affiliated to NITI Aayog, Govt. of India are jointly going to organize an International conference on "Environment, Development and Livelihood" on 22nd & 23rd February 2019 at South Calcutta Girls' College, Kolkata. All faculty members, research scholars and students (PG) from different disciplines are cordially invited to participate and present a paper on any one of the sub-themes.

Focal Theme

Margaret Mead once rightly said that "We won't have a society if we destroy the environment" because it is the environment on which we the humans are entirely dependent.

Environment- what surrounds us-has been the life giver and the sustainer. The four major components of the environment- the physical, biotic, social and cultural aspect have encompassed us since the inception of life. Creation had struck a balance to create harmony between Nature and Man. But over the years "change" as the only constant force, has resulted in degeneration and degradation. The growth in human population has resulted in rapid breakdown of the environmental balance and humans are largely indifferent to the conservation of resources that have sustained them.

The objective of this conference is to bring out the various perspectives of the environment which is serving us from the dawn of civilization. Moreover, its exposure through the bounties of natural gifts, not only benefitted us, but also indirectly made us liable to protect it. The conference delves deep into constant changes in the economy and associated global politics and talks about the factors creating pressure and affecting the environment. By identifying the challenges, the conference will help in exhibiting certain avenues to reach a better and sustainable future by creating a greener eco-friendly environment. Finally, it is also a reminder about the need to preserve the environment so that we can save ourselves from danger and destruction. It subtly drives home the message that "Progress is impossible without change and those who cannot change their minds, cannot change anything."

Sub Themes

- Environment and Development.
- Environmental Ethics and Economic Concern.
- Changing Global Economy and Resource Perception.
- Environmental Economics and Sustainability.
- Eco-centrism in Disaster Management.
- Changing Climate and Environmental Reflection.
- Socio-Economic Perspective in Environmental Studies.
- Women Empowerment and Sustainability.
- Greener Approach towards Eco-friendly Environment.

About South Calcutta Girls' College

South Calcutta Girls' College, established in 1932, is the third oldest college for women in West Bengal. Among the founding fathers of the institution was the great freedom fighter, Dushbandin Chattarajan Das. Though initially, the girls of upper and middle class families took admission, the college now caters to the educational needs of the girls of all sections of society, particularly the underprivileged. The motto of our college is "Sa Vidyaayamuktaye", i.e., Learning is that which leads to emancipation. The mission of our college is the all-round development of young women, helping them to face the challenges of the modern world and lay emphasis on fostering self-confidence and inculcating the right values in them.

Situated in a six storied building on Sarat Bose Road, the College has been awarded B++ by NAAC. The College has adopted NSS schemes and Adult Literacy Programme in nearby slums as its social responsibility.

Report of ICPR Sponsored Two Day National Seminar

On

“The Moral Dilemma between Life and Death: East and West”

Organized by

The Department of Philosophy, South Calcutta Girls' College

The Department of Philosophy, South Calcutta Girls' College organised a two-day National Seminar on 21st and 22nd November, 2017 with the sponsorship support from ICPR. The theme of the seminar was “The Moral Dilemma between Life and Death: East and West”. The seminar hosted ten eminent speakers from various disciplines who shared a common space for interdisciplinary outlook on the prescribed theme. Papers presented in the seminar reflecting the core issues of life and death from different perspectives were exceptionally high on intellectual value, became the highlights of the event.

The first day of the seminar set forth a soothing beginning with ‘Mangalacharanam’ by a group of students of the college. The Welcome Address delivered by the Principal, Dr. Aparna De, was very encouraging and her anticipation for the success of the event motivated the audience. Lighting the candle ceremony took place by all the distinguished guests in the inaugural session of the day. After that, felicitation of the guests by the Principal eventuated.

The Address by the Chief Guest, Prof. Basab Chaudhuri, Honourable Vice-Chancellor, West Bengal State University, was very inspiring. He expressed his expectation that some positive conclusions deduced from the seminar. By quoting from the writings of Rabindranath Tagore, he remarked that preference should be given to life over death. The message exhibiting the hope of the grand success of the event from Sri Subrata Mukherjee, Honourable Minister, Government of West Bengal and President, Governing Body, South Calcutta Girls' College was read out in the seminar by the co-ordinator due to his unavailability. Keynote Address was delivered by respected Swami Suparnananda, Secretary, The Ramakrishna Mission Institute of Culture, Golpark. In his speech, he reminded the mankind to perform their social responsibility as a human being. In the concluding part of his lecture, he emphasised the importance of organ donation.

A short introduction of the theme by the organizer, Dr. Nilina Ghose, unfolded the thrust areas intended to be highlighted in the seminar. She extended vote of thanks on behalf of the department and urged everyone to join in for high tea.

First technical session was chaired by Prof. Adarasupally Nataraju, Department of Philosophy, Assam University and two eminent speakers were Dr. Bhaskarjit Neog, Centre for Philosophy, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University and Prof. Chhanda Chakraborti, Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, IIT Kharagpur.

Dr. Neog's presentation titled “Moral dilemmas and Incommensurable Values” highlighted the issue of the genuine possibility of moral dilemmas by raising the question, Is moral dilemma real or imaginary? This paper argued in favour of the existence of moral dilemmas by subscribing to a thesis of incommensurability of values.

Another paper titled "Rape-induced pregnancy and Late term Abortions, India: The Moral Dilemma between Life and Death" by Prof. Chhanda Chakraborti emphasised the issue of late term abortion specially in cases of rape induced pregnancy. Several cases of late term abortions, the legal judgements based on the Medical Termination of Pregnancy (MTP) Act, 1971, the advice of the medical experts were incorporated in this paper to demonstrate ethical queries. This paper attempted to investigate the moral reasons behind the moral choice in such cases.

These presentations were followed by Q&A session and final remarks by the Chair. This session ended with the announcement of lunch break.

Next session of the day, session two, was chaired by Prof. Priyambada Sarkar, Ddepartment of Philosophy, University of Calcutta and had Prof. Somnath Chakraborty, Formerly Professor and Chair, Department of Philosophy and Religion, Visva-Bharati, Santiniketan and Smt. Anasua Roychowdhury, Film maker, as the speaker.

Prof. Chakraborty's presentation titled "The Ethics of Life and Death: Some Issues" pointed on the issue that a dilemma includes numbers of assumptions each of which needs clarification. Special emphasis had been given on the issue whether death can be considered as a case of moral dilemma by considering the assumption that 'Death is a necessary evil and it is morally obligatory not to sponsor it'. This paper highlighted the view of Epicurus who contested the assumption that death is an evil.

Another paper titled "Death in the time of war and love" was presented by Smt. Roychowdhury by screening a short film "Bhalobasar Sahar." This film portrayed the idea of life and death from a larger perspective of contemporary reality.

After the presentations the Chair summarised the paper for an understanding of them for the students. Questions raised in this session were well answered by the speakers.

Third session was chaired by Prof. Adarasupally Nataraju, Department of Philosophy, Assam University and the speaker was Dr. Pralayankar Bhattacharya, Department of Philosophy, University of Calcutta.

Dr. Bhattacharya's presentation titled "Is Capital Punishment a case of genuine moral dilemma between life and death?"highlighted three issues related to capital punishment-

1. Is capital punishment a genuine case of moral dilemma?
2. How can we solve the dilemma?
3. If we can really solve then can we support capital punishment?

This paper attempted to enquire into the difference between moral conflicts and moral dilemmas. The debate between the retributivist and consequentialist in favour of and against capital punishment had been discussed in this paper.

This session continued with the presentation of papers by the scholars reflecting various aspects of the theme from different angles. The excellent presentations graced the seminar. These presentations were followed by interaction between paper presenters and the audience and final remarks by the chair. The house disappeared after the vote of thanks and final updates from the organiser about the next day event.

Day Two: 22nd November 2017.

“The Moral Dilemma between Life and Death: East and West”

Fourth session of the second day was chaired by Prof. Nirmalya Narayan Chakraborty, Dean, Faculty of Arts, Rabindra Bharati University and two eminent speakers were Dr. Jayasish Chakraborty, Consultant Gynaecologist, MEDICA Super Speciality Hospital, AMRI Hospital and Sri Snehasis Sur, Senior Journalist, Doordarshan Kendra, Kolkata.

Dr. Chakraborty's presentation titled “Dilemma in Life and Death from medical aspect” highlighted the medical issues which are being questioned on ethical ground. Discussions were made on the issues of abortion, euthanasia, surrogacy etc. This paper emphasised on the morality of cloning by raising the question, have we, the human being, got the right to create the life of an animal or human, going against the way of nature or God? This paper attempted to search the common point between science and philosophy incorporating the ‘Unified Field Theory’ of Albert Einstein and immortality of soul or ‘Atman’ from Bhagabatgita. Another paper titled “Unnatural Death and its depiction in Media” by Sri Sur attempted to examine the role of media in handling the issue of death especially unnatural death. This paper pointed out that unnatural death gets priority to media because of the mystery behind the death.

These presentations were admired by the scholars. This was the most interactive session of the day. The success of any session may be judged by the questions and queries it created in the mind of the audience. One of the scholars asked the speaker, which one is preferable, quantity of life or quality of life, which was beautifully answered by saying it depends on personal choice.

Fifth Session was chaired by Dr. Bhaskarjit Neog and had Prof. N.N. Chakraborty and Prof. A. Nataraju as speakers.

Paper titled “Remnants of Death” by Prof. Chakraborty attempted to decipher the reason behind our reluctance to accept death as inevitable. This paper brilliantly exhibited that our ignorance about the nature of death is the reason behind our fear of death. In this regard he mentioned the conversation between Yudhisthira and ‘Dharma in the disguise of crane’ from the Mahabharata and also the opinion of Socrates about death. This paper also pointed out about the remnants of death by making difference between the ‘thick-self’ and the ‘thin-self’. He mentioned that thick-self is that self which has a history, that is the remnants which are left after death and due to these remnants we use proper name while talking about a dead person though it has no referent.

Next presentation was made by Prof. A. Nataraju titled “Theory of Creation in Upanishads: Some observations”. This paper attempted to explore the basic idea of the creation of universe and evolution of life from the Upaniṣadic literature and to construct a Vedāntic living model i. e. re-orienting our life and world in bringing collective human welfare.

These presentations were also followed by Q&A and final remarks by the Chair.

Session Six started after a refreshing lunch break. This session was chaired by Prof. Priyambada Sarkar and the speaker was Prof. Aparajita Mukhopadhyay, Department of Philosophy, Jadavpur University. Her presentation titled “Causes of Moral Dilemma” attempted to search the reasons behind moral dilemma. In this context, she mentioned the opinion of Immanuel Kant who denies the possibility of moral dilemma. By explaining Thomas Nagel’s view she concluded that situation is responsible for dilemma or it is our circumstantial luck due to which we enter in dilemmatic situations.

This presentation was followed by interactive session. One question was raised from the Chair that how circumstantial luck be responsible for moral dilemma? The speaker’s answer was dilemma appears by circumstantial luck is not actual dilemma; it is just an apparent dilemma.

This session continued with the presentation of papers by the scholars, chaired by Prof. A. Nataraju. After a short interactive session, rapporteur presented a brief report of the seminar including almost all the important conclusions which were derived from the presentations of this two-day seminar.

The last session was valedictory, the closing session of the day. The Valedictory Address was delivered by Prof. Priyambada Sarkar, Department of Philosophy, University of Calcutta. In her address she highlighted the issues of moral dilemma from Indian perspective i. e. Bauddha and Jaina perspective. She expressed hope that the department will take initiative to arrange such programme in near future. Her thoughts weaved the seminar completely with its title.

The organizer extended vote of thanks to all and especially to ICPR without whose help and cooperation it could not have been possible to hold such a grand event. With this the closure of the event was announced.

Rapporteur of the National Seminar was

Dr. Rehana Khatun

Associate Professor of Philosophy

Department of Journalism and Mass Communication of South Calcutta Girls' College in collaboration with Cine & Photography Club has arranged one day seminar on 19th August 2016, at 1 P.M. The eminent speaker of the seminar was by Dr. Manas Ghosh, the faculty member of Film Studies Department of Jadavpur University, Kolkata. The topic of the seminar was “Encountering Reality in Iranian Cinemas”.

Here Dr. Ghosh analysed how Post-revolutionary Iranian cinema has been celebrated in many international forums and festivals for its distinct style, themes, authors, idea of nationhood, and cultural references. Starting With Viva by Khosrow Sinai and followed by many excellent Iranian directors who emerged in the last few decades, such as Abbas Kiarostami and Jafar Panahi. Kiarostami, who some critics regard as one of the few great directors in the history of cinema,[20] planted Iran firmly on the map of world cinema when he won the Palme d'Or at the Cannes Film Festival for Taste of Cherry in 1997. Even through showing several film's scene he described the students the style of film making of Abbas Kiarostami and Jafar Panani. Near about seventy students participated the seminar.
